Ashley Martin: Mysterious Origin
Directors: Nicholas Burgos,
Jack Finlay & Ethan Johnson

Runtime: 5 minutes

Woodworking artist and designer Ashley Martin's passion for his craft is obvious. His work is an intimate and meticulous process of rendering objects that evoke mystical qualities.

The Bench

Director: Sam Nuttmann
Runtime: 4.5 minutes

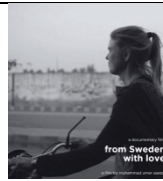

As a piece of driftwood at sea it collides with another piece of wood, it moves down a strange path to becoming a bench. We also follow a path in life that leads us to whole new worlds and unexpected ways of being.

A Fiber Story

Director: Monty Hunter
Runtime: 11 minutes

A well-spun, evocative visual celebration of guanacos, descendants of llamas, on Whidbey Island. Follow the process of shearing the guanacos and preparing the second finest fiber in the world for use by creative hands.

From Sweden, With Love

Director: Muhammad Umar Saeed
Running time: 15 minutes

Hanna, a girl from Sweden starts a school for Pakhiwas (Nomads) in Lahore, Pakistan. This school in a tent is changing the lives of the most unprivileged of the society.

The Last Act: A Short
Documentary about
Life and Death

Director: Amy Benson

Runtime: 39.5 minutes

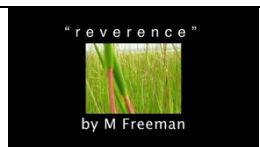

An active nonagenarian actress who is good at living contemplates her roles in life after she realizes that it's unsafe for her to live on her own. She shops for a retirement community and says goodbye to her best friend.

Our Sacred Obligation

Director: Jordan Riber
Runtime: 24 minutes

Our Sacred Obligation recounts the historic and now-threatened relationship between the Yurok Tribe and Klamath River salmon, as well as their leadership to protect it, recently leading to the decision to remove four dams on the Klamath River.

"reverence"

Director: M Freeman
Runtime: 3.5 minutes

A poetic, kaleidoscopic meditation on the irrepressible awe of being, this is part of Cinema Divina, M's series of genre-fluid films created through contemplative practice.

She Marches in Chinatown

Director: Della Chen
Runtime: 33 minutes

In 1952, Asian American girls had no extra-curricular activities until Ruby Chow created the Seattle Chinese Community Girls Drill Team, the only one of its kind in the world.

Your Water Can Be Safe

Director: Bryce Funk
Runtime: 7 minutes

A film crew in Uganda is able to build a clean water system for an orphanage, home to over fifty children, in less than a day. A special filter improves the quality and safety of their water, allowing for higher output at reduced cost.
